A catalogue has been made by Macmillan &

Oo. of the works published by them for the University Press, of Cambridge, which comprise among others, as is well known, some of the most valuable school and college text-books of the higher grades that are in exist-ence.

In a large collection of English books to be cold this week at Bangs & Co.'s, beginning to day, there is a complete set of Eoin's Standard Library; a copy of the "Parker Society Publications," 55 volumes; Johnson's and Stevens's "Shakespeare," large paper; Smollett's "England," in 17 volumes, uncut, besides several cyclopedias, works of travel, and books of the kind called standard.

The second volume in the new edition of The second volume in the new edition of Irving's works—the Geoffrey Crayen edition—w.il be the "Sketch Book," which is expected before the end of this month. As a frontispiece it with have an etching by James D. Smillie. The third volume will be the "Tales of a Traveller." Mr. Warner's essay, Mr. Bryant's oration, and George P. Putnam's Allastic article were published on saturday in one volume, called "Studies of Irving."

Professor Crane, of Cornell University, is propering for publication a work on the Folk Tales of Italy, which English papers welcome as likely to be as interesting to the general reader as it will be valuable to people specially interested in the subject. Articles on the same topic which Professor Crane recently contributed to American periodicals have been translated into Italian by the Director of the Archives of the Senate of Polermo. Mr. R. H. Stoddard's volume of poems, soon to be published by Coarles Scribner's Sons, will be a complete collection of Mr. Stoddard's poetical writings. complete collection of Mr. Stoddard's poetleal writings.

and of this there has indeed been need. Mr. Stoddard's place among American poets has long been established, and it is matter of surprise that a complete edition of bis poems was not undertaken several years ago. The volume will be a goodly one of some 400 pages. Charles Seribaer's Sons have had a portrait made for it.

The publication of a new series of nooks has been started by Mr. George A. Leavitt, jr., of Clinton Hall. It is called "The Odd Moment Series," and the first volume, of which a small edition has already been sold, has the title "Jeannette." The author writes under the pen name of "L. G. Bouglas," "Jeannette," the scene of which is laid in Venuce, is one of three stories that the volume contains, all of them beam based on European experience. The book is designed for Summer reading, and is printed in large type on laid plaper.

Dr. C. R. Lanman, the well-known Sanscrit scholar of Johns Hopkins University, has published a menograph "On Noun inflections in the Veds," which is Primarily a grammatical investigation, and upon which Professor Whitney has based his treatment of the subject in his new Sanscrit grammer; but it has a so additional value, in that it treats of many questions in metre and text criticism and farmishes considerable information which sheds interesting light on Vedic criticism in

Mr. Stedman's paper on Edgar A. Poe will be printed in the May number of Scribner. As a frontis be printed in the May number of Stribner. As a finitispiece the magazine will have a new portrait of Poe engraved by Cole after a daguerrectype taken probably in 1848-a year before the peet's death. It is believed that this picture has never before; been engraved. Mr. De Vinne's second paper on wood-surraving will appear in this number. Among the other prominent articles there is one on "The New-York Seventh," by Mr. Clarence C. Buel, which has many finastration. The English edition of this magazine has reached a circulation of 11,000.

The new record "Demogracy " which makes

The new nevel, "Democracy," which makes the 112th volume of the Leisure Hour Series, is the first American novel that has been printed in that series the first that has been ofered for it. Perhaps in that has been of the work comes out anonymously, in deference to the author's wishes, and specialtion as to the author's name has already begun, where all is uncertain conjecture is easy enough; but in this case it is not believed by those who know the author—and of such there are extremely few—that any industrious persons who choose to engage is this occupation will succeed.

Before the Total though it is probably safe to say that it is by no means

Before the Lafe of Dorothy Pattison-" Sister Dora—a Biography,"—made its appearance in England, few people had ever heard of this noble woman. Walsail, where she lived, is a grimy manufactur-ing town, which few people ever visit. But the whole tog town, which few people ever visit. But the whole of Great Britain will soon know a great deal about Sister Dora. The Life is selding in London at a rate wholly unlooked for. Edition after edition has been called out. Mutic has taken 1,000 copies of it—as many within 500 as he took of the "Dickens Letters" or of the "Life of Bishop Wilberforce." A correspondent of The Churchman (Protestaut Episcopal) says that if Sister Dora has been a Roman Catholic that Church would have canonized her. As it is, the Walsall people in each to put up a statue of her, and "there is a rail hear that it may become an idol, and that pligrimares may be made by devoted worshippers." The edition which Robers Brothers have made of this work is a 16mo of 300 pages, and has a pertrait. It was published hast Tuesday.

Byron's own pronunciation of his name

Byron's own pronunciation of his name authentic enough. During his last years writers have claimed; but just previous to his marriage he certainly called it By-ron. Among the books which one now and then picks up at second-hand stalls is the "Memoirs of Sir William Kuighton," who was keeper of the privy purse during the reign of George IV., and for some time previous to Byron's marriage was his medical attendant. In this book, which has been out of print perhaps forty years, Sir William relates this ancedote of the poet: One morning when he had called ancedote of the poet: One morning when he had called his Lordship rose and, with a suile, said abruptly: "Knighton, what do you think f am going to do 4 I am going to marry." Sir William replied that he was sorry to hear it. "The devil you are! And why should I not?" "Because I do not think you are constituted to be happy in marriage," was the reply. Byron looked grave at this, and, after a pause, said: "I believe you are right; but the ladies think otherwise. However, the die is east; for I have presented myself in due form to the lady's papa. I had an aminable reception. The only personal question but to me was when I was nounling my horse. Sir Raiph called after me: 'Pray, my Lord, how do you pronounce your name! Birron or Dyron't I replied: 'By, sir, spells by all the world over?"

MINES AND MINING.

SUNDAY, April 11-P. M. The mining share markets last week presented the me general features as did the markets of the preceding week-cither dulness or weakness the characteristic of nearly every mining stock on the market. Probably the mining interest, as represented by dealings in shares, never will reach a healthy condition until the public more carefully discriminates between the shares of a capitalized prospect" and those of a developed mine. Now a disappointment in the development of a "prospect" has as demoralizing effect upon the market value of the shares of a really good and paying mine as it has upon those of undeveloped "prospects." The public needs to draw the line at the point where a "prospect" developes paying ore in quantities sufficient to dignify the property with the title of mine. Until then the "hole in the ground" has little more real value than have the "prospects" which have been no further developed than "surface indications." The Stock Exchanges, if they are to permit the listing of the shares of capitalized "prospects" as well as the shares of mines, will do both the Exchanges and the public a service by giving to each class a distinctive appellation. The dealings yesterday were not exceptional to every other day in the week. At the Stock Exchange Little Pittsburg declined to 778. Central Arizona sold at 612@7-this is a good mine, but its working is impracticable while its ore has to be carried seventy miles to be reduced. Standard rose to 3112, and Sutro was steady at 2. At the Mining to 31½, and Sairo was steady at 2. At the Mining Exchange the principal feature was the decline to 2.50 for Hukill. The price of this stock is reaching a point where the investors in it are likely to demand of the management an explanation, because the management is credited with having assured certain large holders that its price could not decline below $4, and because all the published information from the mine as of the most cheering character. Climax ruled steady at 2.55@2.60: Moose reacted 10 cents to 1.10: South Hits was 5 cents higher at 1.65, and Leadville sold at 2.80@2.75. Of the Comstock shares, California was steady at 2.60@2.65. Consolidated Virginia settling to 2.65. Gold Placer was without sales, but it was weak. South Bolie, after a decline of 2 cents to 24, rose to 36@35. Calaveras dropped from 87 to 80 and recovered to 88@87. Great Eastern after declining 1 cent rose 2 cents and closed at 47, and Rappalaumock after declining to 25 recovered to 27. The market closed dull and generally weak.

When the establishment of a new Mining Stock Board in New-York City was proposed. The Alia was the only paper which took a serious view of the matter. The others, through narrow-mindedness, characterized the new movement as one of felly, and that San Francisco would always malitiam the supremers in that business. The past few months have told a tale which carries out the pronhecies of The Alia nearly four years since. Already is New-York, with a criming the cream from our milkt.

Superintendent Palmer, of the Amic, telegraphed April 9: "Second contact improving; three feet high grade ore; gets better every foot we drive. Reter to my letter of this due to settle all debate as to its being a distinct ore hedy from first contact." According to the Lendville papers, there is much interest shown in the Brickinridge, Gunnison and Eagle River districts. Swarms of prospectors are now preparing for a raid on these points.

The United States and Santo Domingo Mining Company is a new organization meorporated in this State, of which Messrs. Charles G. Francklyn, Frank G. Brown. Henry Cummins, William S. Hoyt, Charles G. Cornell and J. H. Rae are the premoters. The company have the exclusive right to work placer mines on all the rivers in the northern part of the Island of Santo Domingo, embracing tracts 300 miles or more in length on the principal rivers and their tributaries. During the years 1878-79 Dr. Rae conducted an expedition fitted out by Mr. C. G. Cornell. He located about thirty miles of fine hydrandic ground, containing an abandance of gravel, which it is believed will yield 40 cents per cubic yard at a low estimate. The organization is rather private than public, and the gentlemen interested have furnished $80,000 cash as a working capital, of which amount $50,000 were invested in machinery and supplies, which were shipped in Tebraray and recently landed on the isaand. Dr. Rae has charge of operations at the mines.

This company owns the largest Reduction Works in the Territory, and eleven mines in the Immediate vicinity. Whose ores they are reducing to buillon. Their mines are on mountain sides, easily developed by tunnels without the use of hoisting or pumping machinery. These now asgregate 2,400 feet in length, all in ore. The veins average five feet in width; the ores assay from 60 to 250 ounces per ton. About 10,000 lons are on the dumps and at the mill. The Company offers a limited number of its shares at $2.75 per share.

Cy as 1893-128 State bonds were only less dull than for the preceding week, the total transactions amounting to $95,000 against $56,000 for the previous week. Louisiana consols were about $4 per cent lower at 5012, and late sales of Alabamas, class A at 60 showed a decline of 1.78 per cent. Bairroad bonds presented no special features. With the speculative kinds prices followed the fortunes of the share market, while of the first-class investments the offerings contains to increase as the demand falls off.

The following are the highest and lowest prices of some of the principal representative railroad bonds during the week, and the closing sales Saturday and a week ago:

Aside from general causes and the stringency of the money market, the special events of the week are likely to have more effect upon the future of prices that they exerted during the past week. The first effect of the announcement that the Coutral and Hudson syndicate had closed, by sale, the remativder of its stock—some 110,000 aharce—was to advance the price of the stock to 134. Yet it is probable that he next Wednesday the street will learn that it has a stock, which before was sold, but which being the rowed, was not a burden to it.
